Zetatek Group, a well-known Group based out of Hyderabad began operations in 1990 and has in the last three decades established an impeccable reputation as a market leader in the niche segment of Environment simulation, Temperature chambers, and other related products. Apart from manufacturing, we are also the authorized sales and service representative for several companies across the world. Zetatek group uses high technology to leverage products that set the benchmark for quality products that conform to international standards. We are committed to excellence in providing ozone-friendly environmental test equipment to ensure quality products that match international standards.

We would like to appreciate the superior quality knowledge and technical support delivered by Goldenlight VLSI Pvt Ltd, through their consultancy services division- Goldenlight Solutions. We were looking out for a dependable Technical partner who will offer us Complete support till we obtain the 'CE Certificate of Compliance' for our products.

We found a Technical and Knowledge Partner in Goldenlight VLSI Pvt Ltd, who offered a systematic approach. They started off with a training session for our key personnel on EU requirements and the process to be implemented. They brought in clarity of thought and they hand-held us throughout the process and ensured that we got the CE certificate of Compliance from a reputed Certification Body, in record time. During this process, We developed a great partnership with Goldenlight VLSI Pvt Ltd. The dedication and commitment towards their customer was evident in all aspects, during the project. We appreciate their attention to detail and creative approach.
